

Bobbi Higgins

KEYNOTE SPEAKER · MARRIAGE CONNECTION EXPERT · CERTIFIED RELATIONSHIP COACH

Bobbi Higgins is a keynote speaker, marriage connection expert, and certified relationship coach who helps couples reconnect, stop feeling like roommates, and fall in love again—by changing the patterns keeping them stuck.

After nearly watching her own marriage end, Bobbi discovered firsthand that knowing what's wrong isn't the same as knowing how to change it. Her search for a better way forward led to professional relationship-coaching training and ultimately to helping other couples find their way back to each other.

A USC communications graduate, Bobbi's media career began in 1991 and spans local and national television. She has hosted approximately 150 live television shows, reported from the sidelines of 100+ football games, and worked on ESPN2 programming both on camera and behind the scenes.

Today, Bobbi combines professional training, lived experience, and decades of media experience to bring audiences powerful storytelling and actionable strategies for rebuilding connection and reigniting passion. Her message is simple: Healthy marriages don't happen by accident. They happen on purpose.

SUGGESTED QUESTIONS

1. You're known as the "Fall-in-Love Again" Coach. You went from having a marriage on the brink of divorce to helping other couples avoid the pain you went through. What was the shift that led you to turn your experience into your life's purpose?
2. You teach couples about something you call "The Waiting Trap." What is it, and why can it be so damaging to a marriage?
3. Why do so many couples eventually start feeling more like roommates than lovers and what do they misunderstand about what it takes to create those "in-love" feelings and bring the spark back?
4. Why do couples keep having the same arguments over and over—even when they genuinely want things to change?
5. When a couple feels disconnected—and maybe they're not even sure how they feel about each other anymore—what does the path back to each other actually look like?
6. Some couples think, "Shouldn't a good marriage just happen naturally?" How do you reframe investing in your relationship as protecting something you value, not fixing something that's broken?

WHAT YOUR LISTENERS WALK AWAY WITH

After this episode, your audience will know:

- ✓ How couples slowly become disconnected — and why that doesn't necessarily mean the relationship is over.
- ✓ How to recognize the patterns that turn partners into roommates.
- ✓ Why waiting for your spouse — or your circumstances — to change keeps couples stuck.
- ✓ How unresolved hurt can quietly turn into resentment and distance.
- ✓ Why the same conflicts keep repeating — and how to begin interrupting the cycle.
- ✓ The four intentional shifts that help rebuild connection, friendship, attraction, and intimacy.
